EU General Product Safety Regulation

We confirm that P&G products placed on the EU market are in compliance with relevant European and local legislations.

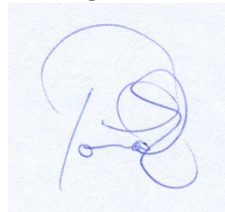

We also comply with the requirements of Regulation (EU) 2023/988 on general product safety (GPSR). On labels of products, we place the manufacturer and if relevant authorized representative address. We also add or will implement within the transitional period until December 13, 2024 the electronic address. For your convenience in below table you can find details.

We would like to add that not all the provisions of the GPSR apply to all our products, as the GPSR applies only to those aspects and risks or categories of risks which are not covered by sector legislations. In that respect, Article 19 of the GPSR, related to information to be provided in the case of distance sales, does apply to all our products and is complimentary with labelling rules in relevant sector legislations.

In case of any further questions, please contact us.
